Give a short summary of Andy Warhol's life or read portions of a book about him.

Have the paper divided into four equal sections. Students will repeat their design in each section. They will draw in pencil first then outline and color in using markers (or paint if desired). Do each repeat image in a different color.

Next they will paint the background in each section a different color.

When the piece is dry, chalk (optional) can be used to go over areas in their design.
